MAY GOD SAVE OUR NATION FROM TRAITORS WHO RULE HER

By P. A. DEL VALLE, President

Defenders of The American Constitution

To judge us, both our friends and our enemies need only to look at the record.

We began life as a nation under our divinely inspired Constitution.

This basic law of the land stemmed naturally from Christian ethics. With very few exceptions, the Founding Fathers were devout Christians who invoked the Deity for each important step they took; prayer was natural to them in everything they undertook. Hence all our institutions began the day's work with a Christian prayer; we, as a nation, "sought the Kingdom of God and its Justice." The reward was, as the Gospel says: "And all these things will be added unto you." They were, and the world beheld a nation incredibly free and prosperous, carved in a few years from a wilderness.

George Washington left to us a priceless heritage, both in word and action. First of all he refused to be made our King, because, he said, "We already have a King, our Lord Jesus Christ. You may make me your President if you wish." And they made him President; but after two terms he refused the power and honor of a third term and thus set an example that was not dishonored until Franklin Delano Roosevelt's questionable ethics and the public's madness permitted him to be elected to four terms. From George Washington we received, as part of our heritage, his Farewell Address. Had we followed it, we would have saved ourselves from the succession of un-principled men whose technique was so ably described by Harry Hopkins, one of Roosevelt's New Dealers: "Tax and tax, spend and spend, and elect and elect."

Since we may assume it was not for this un-Godly end that Providence guided the heads and hands of those who founded this great Christian Republic, and we know that "God will not be mocked", then we must conclude that the time is not far when Divine intervention, in whatever form, will overtake these destroyers of His handiwork.

But where do we stand now? In what way do we appear to the rest of the world as a nation of imbeciles? Briefly, one may summarize by saying that it is because we have, as a nation, abandoned the worship of God for the worship of Mammon. But those who may read this may ask: just what do I mean by this cliché?

We take you back to the year 1913. Woodrow Wilson was President. Mammon came in the persons of the Warburgs, foreign bankers, who sold Wilson, his Secretary of the Treasury, William Gibbs McAdoo and Congressman Carter Glass the bundle of boodle they called the Federal Reserve Act. The Founding Fathers had placed control of our currency in the hands of the Congress under Article 1, Section 8, Paragraph 5 of the Constitution. Nothing in the Constitution gives the Congress the power to divest itself of this control. Therefore, when on 23 December, 1913, the Congress, by passing the Federal Reserve Act, surrendered this sovereign right and duty to a consortium of private bankers, most of them foreigners, it acted unlawfully and outside the powers granted to it by the Sovereign States.

Since, historically, any nation that does not issue and control its own currency is doomed to destruction, this act on the part of the President and the Congress was suicidal. It is only a question of whether these men acted knowingly or un-knowingly. If the former, they were venal; if the latter, they were imbeciles. The reader will ask why?

I can also ask why. Why was this act passed surreptitiously, on the eve of Christmas, when most legislators had gone home? Did the foreign bankers find a handful of Congress assembled on that day by chance, or was there a quid pro quo enjoyed by these members for their services? Would this fraudulent act have been passed had there been present a majority of the Congress? The reader may fill in his own answers. I content myself by remarking that anyone who sells his own country's sovereign right to control its currency to a group of international bankers is not only venal but also imbecilic.

In 1944 this monster we created, the Federal Reserve Corporation, delegated its illegal right to the control of our money to The International Monetary Fund. Thus we have surrendered our country to international control by means of our unlawful fiscal system.

From 1913 to 1964 the use of these bankers' notes issued by the Federal Reserve has cost the American taxpayers the formidable sum of three hundred ten billion, five hundred seventeen million dollars in interest. Had we used United States certificates, such as the so-called Lincoln Greenbacks, the taxpayers would have been saved that much in taxes. Lincoln saved the tax-payers 49 billions by refusing to pay the international bankers exorbitant interest (usury) on the $400 million he needed to bring the War to a close. Lincoln was no imbecile! But those who are content to do nothing to restore the control of our money to Congress certainly must look like imbeciles to the wily bankers who are fleecing the Republic. Congressman Louis T. McFadden of Pennsylvania, who was for ten years the chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, accused the Federal Reserve on the floor of the House of Representatives, of looting the Federal Treasury of over 100 billion dollars in the year 1928 alone. And McFadden was no imbecile; but the members who dared not do what was necessary to bring an end to this highway robbery most certainly deserve that title, along with that of moral cowards.

The United States Government does not own a single share of stock in the Federal Reserve Corporation, which was named "federal" in order to mislead people into thinking it was a government institution. The fact that the Federal Reserve is not a government institution, but a private one, is proved by the Federal Reserve Act itself, for it contains a clause whereby the Federal Reserve Corporation may be purchased by the government. And I accuse the government of imbecility for not doing so. The value of the stock is now just under half a billion! Lop that much off the other imbecility which goes under the name of "Foreign Aid" and buy the Federal Reserve Corporation and its assets, and the tax-payers' bills will be slashed over fifty percent in the first year alone! So who are the imbeciles who will not even discuss this in the Congress? Due to their neglect of duty, we tax-payers must continue to pay the international bankers, who own the Federal Reserve Corporation, interest amounting now to nearly 13 billions annually. Why? Be-

TALMUD IS CALLED CIVIL RIGHTS GUIDE

Rabbi Cites Relevancy for Social Problems Today

The Talmud, ancient code of Jewish civic and canonical law, was the early forerunner of a modern civil rights manual, according to Rabbi Haskel Lookstein of Congregation Kehilath Jeshurun.

A few "gems" from the Talmud will give some idea of the inspiration behind the Civil Rights movements.

"The robbing of a gentile is allowed as they are not our brothers."—Baba mezia 61. (Brotherhood?)

"A Jew is permitted to rape, cheat and perjure himself; but he must take care that he is not found out so that Israel may not suffer."—Schul. Aruch, Jore D. (Civil Rights?)

"A Jew may violate but not marry a non-Jewish girl."—Gad. Shas. 2:2. (Integration?)

The 1966 CIVIL RIGHTS BILL is a vicious Talmudic-sponsored piece of legislation which must be defeated. Write, wire or telephone your Senators and Congressman. Urge your friends to do the same. Every vestige of freedom you still have hangs in the balance.
